

AZ ROC/D-backs Construction Science Technology Fair

Arizona Registrar of Contractors (AZ ROC) invited students to attend the Construction Science Technology Apprenticeship Fair at Chase Field on April 17, 2024. Those who attended received a complimentary ticket to the baseball game. The focus of the event was to connect students considering careers in construction science technology with construction companies actively recruiting.

Congratulations to Michael Mandrelle for participating in the Year Up Program. Year Up is a three step job training program that takes one year or less to complete. Some of the corporate partners this year are Bank of America, American Express, J.P. Morgan Chase, CVS Health and Gateway Community College. Michael will be starting his internship program. Congrats!!

Hail to the Chief

Keystone/Red Rock students Patyence Flagg Acosta and Alexander Harris scored a Scranton surprise, as they were granted an invitation to attend a speaking event for U.S. President Joe Biden! The invitation came courtesy of U.S. Representative Matt Cartwright, a strong supporter of KeyRock and Job Corps. Accompanied by WIOA Manager Jill Payne, the students also heard from Pennsylvania Gov. Josh Shapiro and later met with State Representative Kyle Mullins.

Won't You Be My Neighbor

Shriver brushed off the welcome mat for its Get to Know Your Neighbor Event! Fifteen guests visited the Center for a student-led tour and an overview of Job Corps courtesy of Shriver trade instructors. Notable attendees included Life Care Centers of America, The Great Exchange, Alpha Defense and Devens Enterprise Commission. Shriver was especially excited about a potential partnership with Alpha Defense for Information Technology WBL opportunities! Super work, Shriver!

Talking Trade

Glenmont let the students do the talking for its Career Expo, allowing students to sell their training to the local community through hands-on demonstrations and explanations of their certifications. More than 30 organizations attended the event, which included tours of the Center and regular trade booth appearances by Center Director Tracy Battle. The event was geared at both employers and potential applicants and resulted in Job Corps applications being taken on the spot. Kudos to Mr. Battle, OA/CTS Director Lisa Hall and everyone else involved in hosting this fabulous event!

From the President, Susan Sez

As part of Adams' efforts to increase fentanyl awareness among students and staff, Adams Consultant Melissa Tran has been sharing Beat Fentanyl resources with our Centers. She recently visited our Delaware Valley Center to provide fentanyl awareness training. Fourteen students signed up to become Beat Fentanyl leaders, and a few even recorded some personal video statements about the experience. They can be viewed on all Adams' social media platforms. Let's all continue to spread fentanyl awareness around your Centers and prepare engaging ways to celebrate Fentanyl Awareness Day on May 7!
